JIM PARK PUTS HIS BILL OVER

To Require County Officials To Account For All Fees—Doings In Legislature

Frankfort, Ky., Mar. 11—After hearing arguments for the bill of Robert T. Crowe, of Lagrange, former speaker, and against it by Capt. W. J. Stone, Commissioner of Confederate Pensions, the House of Representatives tabled Raymond Butten's bill providing for the election of a board of trustees for the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley from Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy. The vote was 54 to 25. Mr. Butten, who had been sick, arrived at the House just as the vote was in progress.

The bill was the outcome of a disagreement between the present commandant of the home, Colonel Daugherty, and some of the inmates which resulted in three or four of the veterans quitting the place and going to their homes, while others were dismissed. Capt. Stone's appeal to leave the control of the Home in the hands of the veterans who now compose the majority of the board, however, prevailed over Mr. Crowe's effort to bring younger men and women into the direction of the institution's affairs.

A number of petitions asking for a change were introduced by Mr. Crowe, but when Capt. Stone appeared on the scene, walking on crutches, and, for his 81 years the picture of vigor, and, reciting his four years in the Confederate army, and one in the Union prison, his services as Speaker of the Kentucky House, and his ten years in Congress and representative of the First Kentucky district, it was an irresistible appeal to the House. On motion of Representative George C. Waggoner, seconded by O. A. Denton the bill was laid on the table.

The senate was the scene of a bitter contest over Robert C. Simmons' bill, providing for the erection of a reform school for girls, appropriating $300,000 for that institution and $100,000 for buildings at the Feeble-minded Institute. Mr. Simmons proposed an amendment to eliminate the $100,000 item, and also to reduce the appropriation for the girls' reform school to $200,000, half of that sum to be provided from the 1923 budget and the other half from the 1924 budget.

In his plea for the separation of the sexes at the House of Reform, and for a chance of the unfortunate girls confined there, he was seconded by Senator Whittell Hall, of Logan county, but they found the Senate in an unresponsive mood, and although Gov. Ballard came to the rescue at one time and saved the bill from being tabled, after Senator Dycus had changed his vote from aye to no, and made it a tie, 17 to 17, it was finally voted down.

Mrs. Charles B. Semple, of Louisville, who represents the women's clubs of the state which have been active in behalf of an adequate recognition of the charities and corrections, made an appeal in behalf of the girls at Greendale, who, she said, are now held virtually prisoners in a cage, and unable to have that kindly and sensible treatment which would turn them into useful, good citizens when they are, in course of time, turned loose on the community.

During the debate, exceptions were taken by a number of Senators to three large banners which had been dropped from the balcony, calling on the Senate to submit the $10,000,000 soldier bonus to vote of the people and the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to remove them.

Senator Caywood had his resolution passed, to place the name of General "Cerro Gordo" Williams on the battle monument at Frankfort.

The House at night passed Jas. Park's bill providing for county officials accounting for fees, 58 to 16. An amendment removed the oil inspector's office from the scope of the bill. The bill is intended to impose the constitutional limitations on salaries.

Representative Claude D. Minor offered an amendment that the provision of the measure not apply to incumbents.

Henry Lawrence called attention to House bill 412, providing for an efficiency commission.

The Weather

HUGHES DENIES JAPS SLIPPED ONE OVER

(By Associated Press) Washington, Mar. 11—Secretary Hughes, in a letter to Senator Underwood, democratic Senate leader and Arms Conference delegate, today took occasion to characterize intimations that the American delegates were induced to accept some of the plans for the Four-Power Pacific treaty, cunningly contrived by others opposed to American interests, as a very poor and erroneous conception of the work in connection with the conference.

GEO. HOPPER UNDER $1,000 PEACE BOND

George Hopper, who gave the police quite a battle when being taken to jail last week, was placed under a $1,000 peace bond in police court Friday night by Judge G. Murray Smith. In the event he is unable to give the bond he will have to spend 60 days in jail. He went to jail over night, this time without a struggle. Reuben Fife, a young negro, was remanded to the juvenile court on a charge of stealing some tires from W. T. Harvey's store. Two young girls, charged with delinquency, were also sent to Judge Goodloe's juvenile court.

Week's Weather Guess

(By Associated Press) Washington, Mar. 11—The week's weather forecast for the Ohio Valley and Tennessee is: Considerable cloudiness with occasional rains and normal temperatures.

Struck Oil in Rockcastle

J. B. Morrill, of Stanford, who is drilling for oil in Rockcastle county, some 10 miles south of Livingston, struck a good flow of oil at a depth of 400 feet and says that the well is now good for eight barrels a day. However, Mr. Morrill says they will go on to a thousand feet.

which had been skipped over by the rules committee. He charged that Claude Minor had refused to call it up when it was reached on the blackboard. Mr. Minor, who was acting as spokesman for the committee, said he was calling only road project bills. He said he was willing to call up Mr. Lawrence's bill, if the other representatives were willing to take a chance on his bill failing to pass with only 58 members voting.

It is reported that a former prominent member of the Court of Appeals to whom the Simmons-Strange highway commission that he give his opinion as to its constitutionality, has advised the democratic Senators that he believes it not valid.

During the debate on the Lawrence bill, Bryant Green, representative from Hart county, said that Harry Meyers should leave the democratic party and join the republicans. Mr. Meyers had just stated in the chair that the commission would be a waste of $50,000.

Mr. Meyers said he would not reply to this criticism.

The Amos amendment providing that the commission be confirmed by the Senate was adopted. Harry Miller's amendment, to permit the Speaker to name the two democratic members of the commission was lost, 24 to 20.

Rory Huntsman defended Mr. Meyers' democratic record. He said that Mr. Meyers was the fairest presiding officer of the session and that his long record as a democrat speaks for itself.

Speaker Thompson also spoke very strongly in favor of Mr. Meyers' spirit of fairness.

TO BOOST RICHMOND TO A FARE-YE-WELL

Chamber of Commerce Elects Officers and Directors and Gets to Work

Election of officers and directors and informal discussion of many things that will tend to the upbuilding of Richmond characterized the smoker held by the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening at the Masonic Temple.

The meeting was held primarily for the purpose of making formal organization. Ballots had been sent out and the members, some 200, had been requested to signify their choices for directors. The Nominating Committee had compiled a list of 21 names of those who had been voted for. The meeting last night then baled out to secure seven directors from the list of 21 in nomination. The following were declared elected: R. E. Turley, J. W. Hamilton, R. J. McKee, R. M. Rowland, L. W. Dunbar, H. W. Carpenter and S. M. Sautley.

The directors then retired to elect officers, who were reported as follows:

President—R. E. Turley; Vice President—Wm. O'Neil; Secretary—L. W. Dunbar; Treasurer—R. M. Rowland.

Dr. Homer W. Carpenter presided while the formal organization was being effected. He called on many present for short talks, or suggestions for work for the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. L. P. Evans, wife of the late Mayor, said a few encouraging words. Her presence was appreciated by the members—perhaps the first time business women have ever been represented in the organization.

Discussion was had and approval given to the proposed Golf Club, another Church baseball league, the proposal to secure another train from the south coming into Richmond, an athletic field at Madison High school and the location of the other Normal school in eastern Kentucky which has been provided for by the present legislature. It was agreed that the location committee for this school should be impressed with the fact that much harm would be done the new school and Eastern if it is located too close to Richmond. Dr. O. O. Green strongly stressed the advantage of the highway which is to be built from Richmond to McKee, Jackson county with a good road over Big Hill.

F. M. Stiver argued that Madison county should have a visiting nurse and Dr. J. G. Bosley wanted the town cleaned up well.

There was a most representative attendance of members of the new Chamber of Commerce and it seemed to be agreed by all that it can accomplish a great deal of good for Richmond and Madison county. It was decided that meetings will be held on the second Tuesdays in each month.

Court Exempts Railroads From Wartime Damages

Frankfort, Ky., Mar. 11—No liability from negligence arising out of the management of railroads by the Director General under the Federal Control Act, is imposed on owners of the railroad, the Court of Appeals held today, reversing a verdict for $5,017 in favor of Beverage Fairbanks Haverley in the Laurel circuit court against the L. & N. Railroad. He was injured in the yards at Corbin in 1918 when the government was in control of the roads.

Long Tom Chenault conducted another one of his good sales Saturday morning when he sold a small dwelling house on a lot 100x300 feet one mile from Berea for Mr. Curt Terrill for $1,025. This is considered a big price for this place. Household goods sold high. A cow brought $70; one horse sold for $70 and blacksmith tools, which had seen much use, sold for $70.

President Harding has finally sent Ludow Petty's name to the Senate for confirmation as postmaster at Louisville.

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

Increased production of eggs due to the mild weather has been reflected in larger receipts at selling markets and in lower prices. There is every indication that a larger supply of eggs will be available this season than last. A good steady demand has been noted for both live and dressed poultry, with practically unchanged prices at the week's close.

Cream deliveries to creameries are about normal for the season with good demand from consuming trade. Very little foreign butter in sight and prices are generally steady.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas in a speech against the 4-power pact said it was drawn by Bal four and the Japanese and carried out the old alliance between Great Britain and Japan.

WHISKY BANDITS CAPTURE OFFICERS

And Then Loot Mercer County Distillery at Leisure, But Much Is Recovered

(By Associated Press) Harrodsburg, Ky., Mar. 11—Twenty bandits in two detachments swooped down on the D. L. Moore distillery near Vanardsdall, Mercer county, early today, captured ten persons, including three government guards, loaded three trucks with from 50 to 70 barrels of whisky and sped away. One truck was found abandoned on a country road with 17 barrels and a continued search revealed 33 barrels in barn owned by J. W. Watson, four miles from Lawrenceburg. Another empty truck was found on the road.

The first detachment of eight bandits captured government guard John Cummins, some distance from the plant. Using him as a shield, they advanced upon the distillery where the captured guards Will Foster and Ira Schoolcraft. They bound them hand and foot. Meanwhile the authorities were advised the robbery was contemplated and Deputy Sheriff T. C. Coleman and Robert Horn and former Sheriff Clell Coleman went to the scene. They were met by the second detachment of 12 bandits and forced to surrender. Four citizens, H. S. Milton, Mansfield Dean and his son, Will Tuttle and John Trent, residing in the neighborhood also were captured and taken to the distillery where they were trussed up.

The bandits looted the warehouse at their leisure. Some time later one guard freed himself and gave the alarm.

Sam Collins, State Prohibition Director, at Lexington, took the trail with a posse. Energetic work resulted in the finding of most of liquor.

Three men said to have been drivers of the trucks were arrested. They gave the names of Victor Norton, of Louisville, John Gordon and John Burgess, of Lawrenceburg.

An Earlier Story

(By Associated Press) Louisville, Ky., Mar. 11—Sam Collins, state prohibition director, today telephoned the Louisville police that bandits in three automobiles held up the guards at the D. L. Moore distillery at Vanardsdall, Mercer county, and got away with 50 barrels of liquor.

CONFESS TO MURDER OF ISAAC COYLE

The young slayers of Uncle "Ike" Coyle killed at his store near Big Hill, were taken to jail at Mt. Vernon. The Signal says of the crime and subsequent developments:

On last Friday morning, Isaac Coyle, an aged and respected citizen of the Big Hill section, this county, was found in his home dead from gunshot wounds, his head being partially blown off. Chas. Hollingsworth, Stevie McQueen and Frank Cornett were arrested on suspicion and Tuesday the McQueen and Cornett boys confessed, giving the details of the crime. They said they went to Coyle's home about 8 o'clock Thursday night and knocked on the door, the old man asked who it was and the Cornett boy told him it was Frank Cornett and he wanted some sugar. Coyle then opened the door and as he did so, the McQueen boy shot him. They then threw a quilt over the body and after ransacking the place, and finding something over $60 and two watches, left, locking the door from the outside. They tell that they sat up at the old man's home the next night with others who watched with the corpse. Hollingsworth was exonerated by them and was allowed to go. Mr. Coyle was a first cousin of J. W. Baker, Sr. and Mrs. Henry Gentry, of this place, and was a member of the Masonic lodge here and of the Royal Arch chapter.

POWELL HELD OVER UNDER $200 BOND

After hearing the evidence in the case of Dewey Powell, charged with shooting at "Uncle Dan" Jackson with intent to kill, County Judge J. D. Goodloe in court Saturday morning held Powell to await action of the grand jury at the May term of circuit court under $200 bond. Powell went back to jail until he can furnish the bond.

Mr. Jackson, who conducts a store in Freeman's Hollow, testified that he asked Powell to pay a bill he owed him and that Powell cursed him and threatened to kill him. He said Powell had a shot gun and he stepped back in his house to get his and then Powell came up and shot at him. Jackson said the load struck the door within a few feet of him. Mrs. Nettie Sparks said she heard a couple of shots but did not see the shooting. Leonard Sparks said he was near Powell and he saw Jackson come out with his gun, so he went around the hill as he was afraid Jackson was going to shoot at Powell. He said he heard Powell snap his gun a couple of times. Dewey Powell testified that Jackson had threatened to kill him if he didn't pay him $1.50 he owed him. He said he snatched his gun in the ground and shot once in the ground, merely trying to bluff Jackson off. He said he had no desire to kill the old man. Afterward as he claimed he was going home, he passed the store and Jackson had his gun pointing at him. He said he did not aim his weapon at the old man when he pulled the trigger; declared he had no wish to kill him and could have hit him had he tried. Mrs. Grover Williams testified to seeing Jackson with a knife out before the shooting and that she heard him talking rough to Powell about a bill. She said the Powell boy told her and Mrs. Sparks he had been rabbit hunting and was going after more. Powell admitted having been to the Reform school and during his questioning of Jackson, he obtained the admission from the old man that he had been in the asylum.

BILIOUS CHILDREN

Black-Draught, Long in Successful Use, Praised by an Arkansas Mother, "Soon Does Its Work."

Marmaduke, Ark.—Speaking of Theodor's Black-Draught, which from long use in her household has become regarded as "the family medicine," Mrs. Mary E. Hill, of Route 1, this place, says:

"When the children get bilious, I give them a couple of good doses, and when we have sour stomach, headache, or any liver or stomach trouble, we use Black-Draught. It is an easy laxative, and soon does the work. I certainly think it is one of the best remedies made."

Black-Draught acts on the faded liver, gently, but positively, and helps it in its important function of throwing out waste materials and poisons from the system.

In thousands of households Black-Draught is kept handy for immediate use in time of need. Prompt treatment often is half the battle, and will often prevent slight ills from developing into serious troubles.

Its well-established merit, during more than 70 years of successful use, should convince you of the helpful effects obtainable by taking Black-Draught for liver and stomach disorders. Get a package today, and keep it in your house. See that the package bears the words "Theodor's Black-Draught." NO. 141

BEREA PROFESSOR
ON MOUNTAIN FOLK

Ineffective work upon the part of the churches and untrained ministers was declared by John F. Smith, of Berea College, in a speech before the Filson Club at Louisville this week, to be the cause of much crime in the remote regions of this state.

Mr. Smith spoke on "Kentucky Folks at the Heads of the Hollows."

"I insist that the untrained preacher and the lifeless or highly emotional sermon are responsible directly for a great deal of mischief," he asserted, charging that the preachers in many cases are fanatics who condemn too severely the young folk when they go to social gatherings and try to be happy.

Mr. Smith said that the causes for crime in the outlying districts were the same as the causes of it in the cities. Among the causes cited were isolation, protest by the younger generation against a hopeless future and a "submerged tenth" of the population in the open districts. "The outlying districts have their slums just as the cities do," he averred.

The address of Mr. Smith included a description of life in the more remote districts of Kentucky, embracing church activities, recreation and education. He touched particularly on the question of illiteracy in the territory known as the "hollows."

Real aristocracy exists in the hills and mountains of Kentucky, an aristocracy of the open country. Their stock is of the purest and their integrity and standing of the highest, according to Mr. Smith.

In stressing the need of checking crime in these sections of the state, Mr. Smith suggested that we do not require more laws, but need a better enforcement of those that we already have.

In conclusion Mr. Smith stated that the illiteracy, malnutrition and improper medical care in the state was due to the fact that there were thousands of people in the commonwealth who are entirely unreachd.

AT THE MOVIES*Interesting Screen Set

One of the most interesting sets ever seen in a Paramount picture was constructed for Betty Compson's first Paramount star picture "At the End of the World," which comes to local theatres Monday. This setting represents a light house complete in every detail which was built on a lonely promontory along the California seacoast. It is in this light house that some of the most exciting action occurs. The star has a remarkable supporting cast including Milton Sills, George Ferguson, Mitchell Lewis, Joseph Kilgour, Spottiswoods Aiken and others.

Strong Cast in "Silent Years"

A big theme, developed in a big way, by Louis Gasnier, strikes a strong dramatic note in "Silent Years," at the local theatres Saturday. In the part of Jo Morey, otherwise as Mamselle Jo, Rose Dione, prominent French actress, gives a brilliant interpretation. Tully Marshall is another well known actor who has an important role. Others in the cast are George McDaniel, George Seigman, Will Jim Hatten, Jack Mower, James O. Barrows, Jack Livingston, Ruth King, Kate Toncray, Lillian Rambeau, Jean O'Rourke and Ruth Ashby.

SHRINERS MAY BUY HAGGIN'S GREEN HILLS

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Mar. 11.—Green Hills, mansion of the late James Ben Ali Haggin, of Elmendorf farm, one of the most famous estates in the Blue Grass region of Kentucky, will become a national club house for the Shrine lodge of America, if plans of the Lexington lodge materialize.

Gus Heyman, an official of the Lexington lodge, is in communication with national officials in regard to buying the mansion, which has been tenanted since Mr. Haggin's death nine years ago.

The estate, once one of the show places of Central Kentucky and one of the first and largest estates established in that section by eastern financiers, has been in process of disintegration since the death of the owner.

Green Hill, the mansion, stands on a knoll overlooking thousands of acres of rolling blue grass pastures. The mansion, with 600 acres of land, is all that is left of the vast estate that once rivalled Biltmore of the late Geo. W. Vanderbilt, near Asheville, N. C. The house, together with its furnishings, cost $300,000 when built 20 years ago.

A caretaker is the only person to use the place since Mr. Haggin's death. The interior of the mansion is just as Mr. Haggin left it.

Although much of its former splendor has vanished Elmendorf still is one of the most popular points of interest in the Blue Grass, thousands of persons visiting it annually.

Warfield, Ky., Mar. 10.—The mystery of why men living on Jack Cassidy's creek, near where it flows into Coldwater Fork, preferred to drink creek water instead of spring water—a housewife's vexing problem—was solved by Sheriff Fletcher and a posse in a raid up this tiny stream.

Two stills and several mash plants were found and it was

LOOK MEN!

Soon you're going to buy a new hat for spring. Do you want to Save Money by getting it now? Of course!

Well, for spring, we ordered a lot of hats—flocks of them, every new shade and shape. Bought them from large manufacturers who believed in low prices and more sales.

The hats are here—and next week's Hat Week. We're going to sell them—the price will do it. We've tacked on just enough profit to keep body and soul together. We're going to get money moving 'round these parts and we're going to start with hats.

This is just a reminder to "Be here Tuesday—get the best—pay the least."
